TexSton Marmorino™

A modern version of ancient polished stucco, Marmorino creates spectacular interior and exterior finishes. Highly versatile, it provides textures that range from smooth to distressed, from organic to stone-like. It's white base enables it to be tinted to brilliant hues. "Marmorino" means "little marble" and gets its name from the powdered marble dust which, along with aged slaked lime, gives the plaster its unique character.

TexSton Terra™

Capture the rich patina of antique Old World stuccos, offer a lightweight and economical faux alternative to quarried stone, or provide the relaxed look of natural materials. A decorative, portland cement-based plaster, it can be used indoors and out. It is integrally pigmented and contains specially-graded fine aggregates to enable the creation of a wide spectrum of delightful colors and textures.

TexSton Tuscany™

Create a "cloudy" Old World look that emulates the texture of antique, honed stone. It's smooth burnished surface is given added character by subtle pits and etchings. As its name implies, Tuscany is at home in fine residences or classical business establishments. It is integrally colored and formulated with both portland cement and lime for interior and exterior applications.

TexSton Veneciano™

Bring the classical art of Venetian plaster into the 21st Century. Use Veneciano to create beautiful, polished, brilliantly colored interior plaster finishes. It is applied in thin, translucent patches to create a rich visual finish with the illusion of depth and substance. Veneciano is an authentic Venetian plaster based on aged slaked lime and finely ground marble dust.

TexSton Antico™

Antico has an appeal similar to tanned leathers or fine grades of polished or honed sedimentary stone. It is smooth and hard to the touch, yet has a gently mottled, soft sheen. Elegant and distinguished, but never boring, Antico captures the impression of "movement" within the plaster. An Old World stucco, it contains finely-ground dolomite, aged slaked lime, and fade-resistant pigments and is recommended for both interior and exterior use.

not just a finish...
a beginning

discover where TexSton and your imagination can take you.

Every finish has a beginning.

What is the inspiration for great architecture? For some, it may be the desire to express an emotion or create a certain atmosphere. Perhaps it is the way light plays across a subtly textured surface. Or maybe it is the memory of a distant past, an intuition of a more glorious future, or an attempt to capture forever the pleasures of a fleeting moment.

Whatever fuels your drive to create a place of beauty, TexSton can be the beginning of a great finish. Our Venetian plasters and Old World stuccos provide an endless palette of colors and textures to stimulate your creative vision. When you take a trowel or spatula in hand, TexSton opens a vast new aesthetic territory for you to explore.

Informed by the past. Ready for tomorrow.

TexSton has revived the ancient decorative arts of Venetian plasters and Old World stucco by introducing new formulas to meet the needs and desires of 21st Century artisans and designers. Our authentic mineral-based plasters have a tactile and visual appeal impossible to duplicate with faux finishes or ordinary plasters.

We start with time-tested materials, like slaked lime which is aged for over a year in underground pits, marble dust, ground dolomite, and fade-proof mineral oxide pigments. Then we add modern polymers and admixtures for easier application, greater durability and enhanced performance. These materials age gracefully so that your buildings will be beautiful today, and even more beautiful tomorrow.

Unlimited Choices.

Color selection is unlimited, and additional tones can be achieved by blending two or more colors on the wall during application. While basic techniques are simple enough for any skilled plasterer or decorative contractor to apply, the versatility of TexSton plasters give more skilled craftsmen rein to create all sorts of special effects.

In addition to our plasters, TexSton offers a complete line of companion products, including: color washes, glazes, sealants, metallic powders, waxes, and specialty tools. We conduct training programs for applicators ranging from novice to master craftsman. Custom color matching services are also available.

When you are ready to start...

Other plasters are so dull, you feel compelled to hide them behind a coat of paint. But TexSton is not ordinary plaster. Our finishes are full of life. They delight the senses. They understand passion. And when you are ready to create something great, they say, "Let's begin."
